

Weare in the World

For Weare Residents, By Weare Residents March 27, 2024

On April 8, northern New Hampshire will be in the path of a total solar eclipse - the first since 1959. In Weare, around 3 p.m. a partial solar eclipse will be visible; skies will dim, temperatures will sink and the moon will pass over the sun to block its light. The next one of its kind won't happen again until 2079.

Where to watch nearby:

-Weare schools will release students two hours early. A viewing event is being planned at the JSRHS football field. School communications will provide event updates.

-"Great American Eclipse Viewing Party," McAuliffe-Shepard Discovery Center, Concord. 12-5 p.m. Reservations:

New Board of Selectmen Seated; Mathews Elected Chair

By Tom Clow

The newly seated Weare Board of Selectmen held its first meeting since the March 12 election on Monday, March 18. New to the board are James Drury, elected to a three-year term, and David Pratte, elected to a one-year term. Janice Mathews, who was appointed to finish out one year of a term vacated by the resignation of Kevin Cahill, was beginning her own three-year term. Highlighting the meeting was the election of officers and appointment of members to serve on other boards, committees and commissions.

Janice Mathews was elected to serve as chairperson and Benjamin Knapp as vice chair. Salim Blume will serve as ex-officio member of the Planning Board. Drury will assume that role on the Parks and Recreation Commission, Mathews on the CIP and Knapp on the Stone Fund Committee. Pratte will serve as a liaison to the Weare Conservation Commission.

Two Positions Filled

Two employee positions were filled: one as a new hire and one as a reassignment. Logan Bannister was hired to fill one of the much-needed truck driver positions in the department of public works. Matthew McLain was reassigned from the highway department to serve as temporary foreman of the transfer station, a position he has held before. McLain will serve in that job until a permanent replacement can be found.

Cemetery Mapping

Betty Straw, Chair of the Mildred Hall Committee, reported that the committee had approved the expenditure of $2,500 for cemetery mapping. The project will include the East Weare, Pine Grove, and Johnson Cemeteries, all on Buzzell Hill Road. Straw said there had been two bids on the job and explained that mapping involved identifying the proper location of all gravesites.

PARC Appointment

Shelby O'Donnell was appointed and sworn in as a member of the Parks and Recreation Commission. She joins another new member, Matthew Bieler, who was appointed at the March 11 board meeting.

School News

On March 25, with many homes in Henniker and Weare were still without power, the Henniker Community School and Weare Middle School opened their cafeterias for members of the community to warm up, charge phones and have some hot pizza: a true community effort by our knowledgeable problem solvers. The pizza was heated at John Stark, delivered and served by the SAU 24 leadership team. Courtesy photos: SAU 24 Assistant

The JSRHS Model UN Club traveled to UNH on March 9 to participate in the Model United Nations Conference. Model UN conferences simulate the UN General Assembly and its other multilateral bodies while students act in ambassador roles to learn about principles and functions. The JSRHS club joined with 85 other students from high schools across New Hampshire and Maine for the conference.

Tess Mosher, Autumn Duquette, Jacoby Baron and Morgan Locke participated in the General Assembly representing nations discussing natural disasters and climate change. Autumn Duquette received an honorable mention for her participation and Morgan Locke won for best position paper.

Transportation Survey

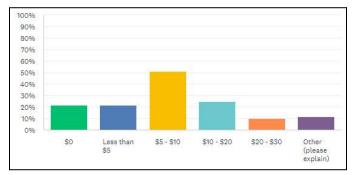

By Ben Herbert, Regional Mobility Manager

As of the writing of this article, 233 Weare residents of various ages have responded to the transportation survey. People of ALL ages are encouraged to fill out the survey. Please note: the survey is still open until May 1, and we hope to double this number of participants. Your participation is important. Please take the survey at this link: https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/62CEKKH

Preliminary results indicate that 35% of participants live in North Weare, 40% live in South Weare and the remaining participants live in Weare Village Center, Lake Horace, East Weare and elsewhere. Although only 2% don't drive, 12% anticipate not being able to drive within the next several years. When asked if they struggle getting to places, 8% said yes. When asked if a friend, neighbor, or family members struggled getting to places. 17% said yes. Also, 16% of the participants admitted they or someone they know has difficulty getting out to shop while 20% said they or someone they know have difficulty getting to medical appointments.

When asked to provide the reasons why, the most common answers included: no transportation options, not knowing who to call, friends and family not available and not being able to drive at night. When asked which type of program they would support for Weare residents who cannot drive, 90% said a volunteer driver program, 45% said a town-owned van service with town-supported drivers and 40% said a voucher program supporting discounted rides. 15% of the participants could see themselves using a volunteer driver program while 32% were unsure. 27% of the participants could also see themselves volunteering to become a driver.

Should a transportation program be established in Weare and how much can you afford to pay for each trip you take? Select all that apply. Answered 186; skipped 47

Eclipse Quilts

For their 2024 challenge quilt, Concord's Capital Quilters Guild picked the solar eclipse as their theme, and they chose the McAuliffe – Shepard Discovery Center to display their beautiful pieces! The quilt pictured to the right is by Ellen Reed.

Now through April 28, view this special exhibition of local solar science-themed art. The quilts will be on display in the Discovery Center's exhibit galleries and admission to the exhibition is included with general admission. Visit the Discovery Center's website for more information about operating hours and general admission costs: www.starhop.com.

Weare Community Theater Is Growing!

By Connie Evans

We have produced two successful plays on Weare history, "Pine Tree Riot" and "The Lost Village," and are working toward the third, "Time Will Tell". Our goal is always to make Weare's rich history come alive—and the feedback we have gotten has told us we should keep going! More importantly, participation in The Weare Community Theater is a way to get involved in the community while having a great time. Whether working on stage or behind it, everyone has fun. They must, because they keep coming back! Several of the people who showed up at our March 17 interest meeting were part of the previous plays. We also had some newcomers to town who knew this would be a wonderful way to get involved in the community and meet people.

There was a lot of energy in the room at the interest meeting for our third historical play. Approximately 20 people tossed around good ideas as we discussed the tasks involved with the production aspect of the play. We were thrilled Molly Brennan came and provided some creative ideas from her experience working in Chicago theater for 30 years.

Director Kenny Cahall

We hope you will join us whether you want to act or work behind the scenes. Let us know if you have experience or want to help in the following areas: fundraising, lighting, costumes, set design, publicity, or props. If you just want to dip your toes in the acting pond, we will have non-speaking parts in a crowd scene. Be part of the fun! All are welcome!

NEXT INTEREST MEETING: Sunday, April 7, 1-2 p.m. Weare Public Library Sawyer Room.

Correction

According to Town Clerk Mareen Billodeau, upon review, the total number of votes cast in the March 12 election, including absentee ballots, was 1,979.

Veteran Voices

By Bernie Bond

My name is Bernard Bond. I joined the United States Marine Corps on July 21, 1955 at the age of 17. I was released from active duty on June 26, 1959. I am a disabled veteran and a life member of the DAV (Disabled American Veterans).

I was schooled to become a jet engine mechanic. After schooling, I was sent to a Marine Air Station in southern California where I spent about a year working in a jet engine repair shop.

Next, I was transferred to a Marine Air Group in Japan where news was received that the Chinese communists, on the Mainland of China, were shelling two outer islands claimed by the Chinese nationalists on the island of Formosa (now Taiwan). The Chinese communists were also threatening invasion. This all took place at the start of the "Cold War," which was always an undeclared war.

A decision was made to send a Marine squadron to Formosa as a show of support. Our unit was set up on the northern part of a Chinese air base, separate from the main base. The runway was short so Seabees were sent in to set up arresting gear. The Marine squadron that followed us landed using their tail hooks to stop them when they landed. The planes had afterburners that were used to get airborne.

We spent several months on the island supporting the Chinese nationalists until the threat abated. We then returned to Japan. This fight continues today as the Chinese communists still push for unification with Taiwan.

Shortly after returning to Japan, I was sent to San Francisco and released from active duty.

Asked and Answered: April Is National Poetry Month

Who Will Tell Our Stories When We're Gone?

Albert's garden fallow tangled dewy grasses in his field at eighty-nine his knees gave out summer was too much for him.

Winter winds tore clapboards from the weathered house shudders racked its frame what's not repaired unseen by eyes focused inward toward his past.

Who knew him when this farm was Uncle Duane and Herman's when their sheep barn stood where now a tractor wheel remains a birch tree growing through its rusted spokes?

Who heard Al say, "This year's been dry but I got beans enough the woodchuck didn't get. Heah, take some 'fore your own come in." - Chris Hague

Friend Drift

We were peas in a pod. That's what they'd say, But then things changed when you moved away.

When we were young, so much was the same. I guess there's really no one to blame.

Now, you think like this and I think like that. How did we get on such opposite tracks?

Those tiny changes one here and one there Meant disagreements that used to be rare.

Once time had passed – a number of years, We drifted apart. And there weren't even tears. -Sharon Czarnecki

Stripes in the Road

It's that time of year, street sweepers appear, motorized machines travel city streets and country streets, too, their brushes sweep sand and other debris, while water washes making stripes in the road, that soon disappear as they dry.

-Marge Burke

Meditating

I watch the pine branches sway slowly with the wind like gentle ocean waves lapping against rocks, open my palms in a welcoming manner, and simply watch, meditate, opening my heart and soul, embracing peacefulness, inhaling calm beauty giving thanks for all that is. -Marge Burke

There Was a Struggle

Long expected spring arrived in Weare right on time, as it should, however, when night fell, winter said "no, I am not ready to let go just yet," so, we had snow, just enough to cover the emerging green of grass and early spring flowers, wind blew, fluffy spirals of swirling snow through the yard, struggle of seasons continued into the next day, winter's grasp slowly losing strength, spring will win out. -Marge Burke

Tell Us About:

Poetry !

Let's continue with National Poetry Month. Let your inner voice speak to you as spring makes an appearance and write something poetic about what you see. Don't worry about whether you think it is perfect or worthy of publication. Just tell us how spring speaks to you. Or write to us on another subject entirely. As long as it's a poem, free verse rhyme or haiku, send it to us!

POETRY CORNER

Death and Destruction

The wind blew at gale force strength leaving death and destruction coursing through the neighborhood, power lines downed, trees toppled, limbs and twigs lay in wild array, driveway littered by countless pine cones lying like tipped over tombstones in a cemetery, death and destruction indeed, against all odds though, there was survival of the small ash trees with their light amber leaves still in place after the long winter days.
